Education

[January, 2015 – April 2015]

Epicodus | Portland, OR

An immersive coding bootcamp that teaches multiple languages and tools, and most importantly the skill of learning how to learn and think like a programmer. Through pair-coding everyday, I learned JavaScript and JQuery, Ruby on Rails, the basics of databases, and the methods of TDD. The most important skill I took away from Epicodus is the ability to find the answers, and become familiar with a new language or tool, even if I've never used it before.

Experience

[April 21, 2015 - Current]

Intern | ArgenticSoftware | Portland, OR

I am currently an Intern at Argentic Software, where I am learning how to write better code, work on a team, contribute to real active projects and communicate with clients. I have been building an application using Django and Python, while adding features to a live project using PHP and Zend framework. I have been using bug-tracking and version control tools, a.
